OUTLINES.

After a terrible speech against Harry Thaw by District Attorney Jerome, in New York, yesterday and a charge by Judge Fitzgerald, conceded to be unfavorable to the murderer of Stanford White, the fate of the slayer was placed in the hands of the jury yesterday evening at 5:17 o'clock; the powerful speech of the prosecutor and the charge of the judge greatly depressed Thaw and his family, and his lawyers appeared to be apprehensive about a verdict; at 10 o'clock last night the jury had failed to agree upon a verdict, and was locked up for the night.——In a long speech at Columbus, O., last night, Senator Foraker hurled defiance at President Roosevelt, declaring that he recognizes no Presidential dead line for Foraker, scouting the idea that he has any boss, and declaring that he is responsible only to the people of Ohio, to whom he is willing to go for indication; he criticised as without precedent Roosevelt's campaign to select his own successor in the Presidency. ——In an interview in Cincinnati yesterday, Congressman Longworth declared himself for Secretary Wm. H. Taft for the Republican Presidential nomination, asserting that Roosevelt's policies are the issue, and that they are typicfied in Taft.——Charles Henry Rogers alias Charles H. Carpenter, wanted for the murder of three people at Middletown, N. Y., October 6, 1905, was captured yesterday at Los Aangeles, Cal.—President Roosevelt yesterday appointed Ralph W. Tyler, a negro, of Columbus, O., to he auditor of the Treasury.——President Roosevelt yesterday gave out the opinion of Attorney General Bonaparte as to labeling whiskey, the purpose of it that straight whiskey must be labeled as such, and blends or compounds so labelled.——It is reported that Gen. Christmas, the American fighting for Honduras, has been killed; it is also rumored that peace negotiations are pending between Nicaragua and Honduras.——New York markets: Money on call, easy, 1 3-4 to 2 per cent.; ruling rate 2; closing bid, 1 3-4; offered at 2; spot cotton quiet, 11 cents; flour, steady, but quiet; wheat, firm; No. 2 red, 83 3-4 elevator; corn, firm; No. 2, 56 1-2 elevator; oats, firm; mixed, 47; turpentine, steady, 72 1-2 to 73; rosin ,firm; strained, common to good, 4.75.

Harriman should buy a Teddy bear and kick it.

Today is the anniversary of the discovery of kerosene oil—April 11, 1826.

According to Attorney Delmas' speech to the jury, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has a poor excuse of a mother but a genuine knight for a husband.

Roosevelt is making a reputation "trying" to counteract the pernicious results of Republican policies, in which policies he professes to believe.

All Republicans who do not side with Roosevelt in his words with Harriman may as well have been one of the parties at that dinner of conspirators.

Twenty-eight beautiful young ladies of Milwaukee have organized "Crate No. 1, Illustrious Order of Lemons." This will induce the boys, immediately if not sooner, to organize the Ever-Ready Order of Lemon Squeezers.

"What does Senator Tillman think of the differences between Roosevelt and Harriman?" asks a contemporary. Differences? Tillman doesn't call it that. He's already said it's "a dirty brawl."

Generally it is a good idea to be loyal to old friends instead of making new ones who are no better and nine times out of ten not half as good as the old ones. Some people find that out in shifting their party allegiance.

A New York house will give a rebate on lemons bought from them during the past five years. Harriman, however, will get no rakeoff on the $50,000 lemon he got from Roosevelt. The Republican campaign fund never gives back anything.

A New York woman is suing her husband for divorce because they fell out about getting a new bedspread. He wanted a light blue one and she insisted on buying a yellow one. When a little thing like a bedspread can come in between a man and his wife it shows how lightly some people regard matrimony.

A contemporary asks: "Does anybody know why, in the midst of all of it, Republican National Chairman Geo. B. Cortelyou does not speak out about corporation subscriptions to the Roosevelt campaign fund?" Well, if we've got to answer for George, here goes. He keeps mum, because a little exhibit by him would make all recent sensations look like the flickering light of a tallow dip compared with the glow of Nick's habitation with the lid off.

RED MEN CELEBRATE

MANY FITTING SPEECHES

Watcoosa Tribe and Fort Caswell Band Special Guests of Honor. Delightful Affair in Every Respect—The Programme.

In honor of the completion of their handsome new wigwam at 414 North Front street, the Improved Order of Red Men of the city, with their especial guests, members of Watcoosa Tribe of Southport and Fort Caswell, last night in the lodge room gave an elegant banquet which was attended perhaps by nearly 500 members of the order and their friends. The large hall on the third floor of the building had been attractively decorated for the occasion, a large United States flag being draped on the west end, and the tables were arranged lengthwise, affording a maximum seating capacity and enabling the guests to be served with a minimum of inconvenience. The menu embraced many substantials and delicacies of the season and the inner man was well cared for.

Col. Walker Taylor, himself a "Big Injun" who always "shines" on such occasions, served as toastmaster and managed the affair with exceedingly good taste and discernment. The toasts and the responses during the evening were as follows:

"Tonight a Proud Moment for Cape Fear Redmanship"—J. A. Smith.

"Impressions of a Junior Member"—D. Russell Foster.

"Our Absent Brothers Who Have Crossed the River of Death"—J. H. Cowan.

"The Red Man, the Good Fellow"—J. J. Hopkins.

"Our Visitors," Watcoosa Tribe—Sergeant George D. Meece, of Fort Caswell.

It was regretted that on account of a previous engagement Mr. Cowan could not be present to respond to his toast but it was read by Mr. Clayton C. Redd with splendid effect.

Excellent music was discoursed during the evening by both Hollowbush's Academy Orchestra and the post artillery band from Fort Caswell, which were stationed at either end of the room and discoursed appropriate airs and selections.

The new wigwam is an excellent one and it was shown to fine advantage last night. The special guests of the occasion numbered sixty-five men from the post, including the band. They came up on the steamer Atlantic under special charter and returned last night after the banquet. The post band added greatly to the success of the affair and the "copper skins" from the lower Cape Fear reservation were given the hand of good fellowship by the Wilmington Indians, of which there are now nearly 500 in the city.

The banquet last night marked an important epoch in Redmanship in Wilmington, and the patriotic order is to be congratulated upon the great success they have attained in providing a wigwam of their own.

The banquet last night was in charge of a committee composed of Messrs. Sol Sternberger, chairman; W. L. West, W. L. Burkheimer, W. B. Munroe and W. P. Gafford, and they are due the thanks of the tribes for the splendid manner in which they arranged everything.

The Building Committee in charge of the new home is composed of Messrs. Jas. F. Woolvin, chairman; W. L. Burkheimer, secretary; E. P. H. Strunck, treasurer; Col. Walker Taylor, Sol Sternberger, F. K. J. Fuchs, W. L. West, W. P. Gafford, James Wenberg, Wm. B. Munroe and J. T. Turner.

ADMITTED TO BAIL

Four Thousand Dollars Amount Named as Bond For Young Lonnie Snipes By Judge Long—Probably Not Able to Give It.

Young Lonnie Snipes, the alleged slayer of W. L. Williams last September whose sensational trial was concluded in the Superior Court last week with a disagreement of the jury, was yesterday admitted to bail in the sum of $4,000 by an order of Judge B. F. Long presiding. It is stated by the attorneys for young Snipes that he will be unable to give this amount, though some of his friends think that the surety can be made up among influential men of the city who have become interested in his case.

The order of Judge Long in this respect was made yesterday afternoon without argument of the attorneys interested. Solicitor Duffy returned to his home in Onslow earlier in the week and counsel for the prisoner left the matter entirely with Judge Long. The order is as follows:

"State vs. Lonnie Snipes: In this case, after hearing all the evidence at the trial, the prisoner's counsel moving that the prisoner be allowed bail, and it appearing that the Solicitor insists upon a conviction of murder in the second degree and not in the first degree, it is considered and adjudged that the prisoner may be allowed to give bail to answer the inictment at the next criminal term in the sum of ($4,000) four thousand dollars to be approved by the Clerk.

"LONG, Judge."

It will be recalled that Mr. McClammy, of counsel for Snipes, applied to Judge Long Tuesday afternoon for more prison liberties, representing to His Honor that the young man's physical constitution is being undermined and that he is suffering greatly with indigestion as the result of long confinement and lack of exercise. This was taken to mean that Snipes probably would not be able to give the bond in any sum that would likely be named. No action was taken on this motion for more liberties yesterday. If it is finally determined that Snipes will not be able to give bond, it is likely that an effort will be made to get more liberties for the young man.

TRUCK GROWERS ARE ANXIOUS.

Colder Weather and Heavy Frost Predicted This Morning.

Very light frosts occurred in the Wilmington trucking section yesterday morning, and no damage of consequence to growing crops resulted, but the worst is feared this morning, the Weather Bureau yesterday evening having sent out a special warning of much colder weather this morning, and a heavy frost. So far as possible the growers have protected themselves, but there are many plants that cannot be covered, and these will fare badly under the conditions, which it is said will almost amount to freezing. While the strawberry crop cannot be blasted by the cold and frost the season can be retarded still further and the fruit will be injured in quality, ripening in an immature way and being notty and uneven. The minimum temperature yesterday was 39 degrees, with a maximum of 55. A drop of only degrees would put the mercury down to freezing this morning, and all the indications during the night were for the frost that is predicted.

The Atlantic Coast storm, which has been prevailing for some days has moved to the New England coast with a still further increase in intensity, the barometer over Maine having fallen below 29 inches. Under the influence of this storm snow was falling yesterday as far westward as upper Michigan. Temperatures, for the same reason, are much below the normal over the greater portion of the country east of the Rocky Mountains with freezing weather in the interior. Frosts have occurred in North Carolina and northern Georgia. Today the conditions are expected to be much relieved with warmer weather to follow.

TRUCKERS' COMMITTEE TO MEET

Telegraphic Call to Confer Regarding Transportation Matters.

A telegraphic call for a meeting of the Executive Committee of the East Carolina Truck and Fruit Growers' Association was issued yesterday by President William E. Springer to be held in this city this morning at 11 o'clock. Members of the committee are Messrs. Springer, J. A. Brown, of Chadbourn; W. L. Hill, of Warsaw; J. S. Westbrook, of Mount Olive, and J. A. Westbrook, of Wallace. The meeting is for considering transportation matters in connection with the movement of the strawberry crop and for a conference in the same regard with officials of the Atlantic Coast Line. The special matter under controversy is said to be a difference over the minimum car-load shipment. It is expected that all the differences will be satisfactorily settled with the transportaion people.

IN GREEN AND WHITE

MISS. DAVIS TO MR. DOSHER

Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, forming the environment for many beautiful wedding ceremonies, was never prettier than on last evening at half after eight o'clock, when Mr. Albert L. Dosher led to the altar Miss Catherine H. Davis, the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Carmer Davis, of this city, and they were made man and wife, in an impressive service by the Rev. N. M. Watson, pastor of the congregation. The church had been beautifully decorated in green and white, the altar having been banked with palms and ferns, with here and there cut flowers and the like, giving a delightful suggestion of Spring-time. The pretty auditorium was thronged with relatives and admiring friends of the young people to the marriage vow.

The wedding marches were played by Mrs. M. L. Chasten, "Lohengrin" being used as a processional and Mendelssohn's Wedding March as an exit. While the solemn words were being spoken by the pastor Mrs. Chasten softly played "Dearie," which gave a charming effect to the otherwise pretty and impressive scene. Little Miss Annie Davis, sister of the bride, and little Miss Irene Price, clad in snowy white, served most gracefully as ribbon girls, while Master Clifford White, a cousin of the bride, was the manly little ring bearer. Miss Mamie Davis, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, with Mrs. C. L. Mock, of Spence, N. C., as dame of honor. There were no bridemaids. The ushers and groomsmen were Messrs. W. A. McGirt, W. B. Muse, T. K. Curtis, F. R. King and M. D. James, while Mr. Wilbur Dosher, a brother, was the groom's best man. These entered down either aisle and formed a graceful ensemble at the altar, where the ceremony was performed. It was described as one of the prettiest wedding scenes witnessed in Wilmington in a long time.

The bride was pretty in a becoming gown of cream silk aeolian over taffeta, with chiffon and medallion trimming. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor wore light blue aeolian trimmed with hand made lace and medallions, and carried a lovely bouquet of white carnations.

The dame of honor was becomingly costumed in white pongee silk, with chiffon trimmings, and carried carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom and a large number of friends, including members of the wedding party repaired to the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Mary M. Dosher, No. 219 South Sixth street, where an elegant reception was given. Refreshments were served and during the evening Mr. and Mrs. Dosher received the happy felicitations of a great many callers. Both are very popular in Wilmington, and their popularity is evidenced by the large number of very handsome wedding presents received. Mr. and Mrs. Dosher will make their home at No. 219 South Sixth street.

Directors—James H. Chadbourn, M. W. Jacobi, R. R. Bellamy, J. Walter Williamson, E. C. Holt, J. A. Springer, C. W. Yates, E. J. Powers, of Atlanta, and E. B. McCullers, of Clayton.

ROYAL VENETIAN PLEASED.

Excellent Band Concert Last Night at Academy of Music.

The concert last evening by the Royal Venetian band in the Academy of Music was pronounced by those who heard it as very good indeed. The house was not large but those present enjoyed the music very much. The soloist accompanying the organization was heard in several difficult selections and won high praise from competent critics. The band would doubtless play to a larger audience should it come for a return engagement.

Injured By Falling Lumber.

Mr. Jacob Zieblin, who lately removed from Wilmington to Canetuck, Pender county, was painfully injured Monday by slipping with the result that a heavy piece of timber fell across his breast. He was carried into his residence and medical aid was summoned. He is quite severely but not dangerously hurt.

THE TRIAL STILL ON

Smith Land Suit Still Holds the Boards in Superior Court—Two Important Cases Set for Today Will Go Over.

The Smih land suit is still hanging fire in the Superior Court, and it may take practically the balance of the week to complete the case. The issues are being extremely hard fought, and the witnesses are being given the most searching investigation. The evidence is being taken in shorthand by Miss Estella Shrier, and in any event the case will likely be appealed to the Supreme Court, where it has been once before. Yesterday morning upon the convening of court Miss Louise B. Smith, the plaintiff, resumed the stand, and was given a most difficult cross examination by Mr. Rountree, of counsel for the defendants. Then followed the re-direct examination by the plaintiff's attorneys and the witness was followed by Mr. William E. Worth. The latter witness was also put through a rigid cross-examination and the plaintiff rested its case with the introduction of two old colored servants of Miss Smith—Dalcena Reed and Eva Burgwyn. They told of their household recollections of the transactions in regard to the property involved and were also subjected to strong cross-examination by the defendants' attorneys.

After the recess for dinner from 1 to 3 o'clock, members of the jury having voted for a longer recess, the dedefants began with the introduction of their testimony. Mr. Roger Moore, one of the defendants, was the first witness and defended the Moore estate title to the property in question. Next came Mr. Henry W. Angel and lastly during the afternoon, Mrs. Roger Moore, executrix of the last will and testament of the late Col. Moore. She had just concluded her testimony when court took a recess at 5:30 o'clock until 9:30 this morning.

At the present rate very few cases at this term of the court will be reached. There are frequent objections by counsel on both sides, which take up the time of the court and it is doubtful if the case will get to the jury before tomorrow morning.

The cases set for today are rather important. One is a damage suit by W. A. Smith against the Western Union Telegraph Company in which the plaintiff is asking a large amount for the alleged failure of the defendant to deliver a telegram notifying him that a member of his family was dead and the corpse had been sent to Atkinson, N. C., for interment. The plaintiff is represented by Messrs. Bellamy & Bellamy, MacRae & MacRae, and Meares & Ruark. Messrs. John D. Bellamy & Son, division counsel for the Western Union, represent the defendant. Another of the cases is the damage suit of Mr. Charles D. Willson against the Atlantic Coast Line for damages for alleged permanent injuries by being knocked down by a freight car on the Nutt street crossing of the company in this city some time ago. The case has once before been tried, but a new trial was granted on one point of law by the Supreme Court. If these cases are reached, it will probably not be until next week as there are a number ahead of them.

MARRIED LAST EVENING.

Miss Annie Belle Strickland Bride of Mr. John Wallace West.

A quiet, but withal a very pretty wedding ceremony joining in marriage two popular young people of Wilmington, was celebrated yesterday evening at 8 o'clock at St. Thomas' Catholic Church, the parties to the marriage vow being Miss Annie Belle Strickland, the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Strickland, and Mr. John Wallace West, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah West, of this city. The ceremony was witnessed only by a few very intimate friends of the bride and groom, the wedding party being composed of Mrs. W. L. West, Miss Mattie Strickland, Mr. Jesse West, Mr. W. L. West and Mr. J. D. Mote. The young people received the happiest congratulations of their friends, and repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mote, No. 902 North Fourth street, where they will reside in the future. Mr. West is one of the popular young conductors on the Atlantic Coast Line between Wilmington and Florence, and the bride is a young woman much admired by a large number of friends in this city.

MARRIED IN RICHMOND.

The following special from Richmond, Va., to the Raleigh News and Observer will be read with interest in this section, where the groom is well known:

"Richmond, Va., April 9.—Wilbur Douglas Hill, a young lumber merchant of Fayetteville, N. C., and Miss Blanche Alton Foote, daughter of Mrs. M. G. Foote, were married at midnight last night at the home of the bride on east Main street.

"The North Carolinian, who was on a visit to his sweetheart, received a hurried business call from his home town, which would have deprived him of seeing the girl again in months. He persuaded the young woman of the wisdom of accompanying him at this time, had a friend procure a minister while he secured license to take his wife home with him.

AFTERNOON WEDDING

A VERY PRETTY CEREMONY

One of the prettiest weddings of the after-Easter period in Wilmington was that of Miss Mary Twitty Fitts, the attractive young daughter of Capt. Francis M. Fitts, formerly of this city, and Mr. Charles Vines Brown, a prominent young business man of Rocky Mount, N. C., the ceremony having been performed at half after five o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's sister,, Mrs. Robert W. Wallace, No. 411 Dock street. The drawing rooms of the pretty home were most attractively decorated for the occasion with palms, ferns and Easter Lilies, the marriage scene being one that was pretty, indeed. The beautiful Episcopal service was used, the officiating minister having been Rev. R. W. Hogue, rector of St. James' Parish, this city.

Promptly at the appointed hour for the service the bride entered leaning upon the arm of her father, Capt. Francis M. Fitts, by whom she was given away at a beautiful improvised altar, arranged at an advantageous position in the room. There she was met by the groom, who entered with his best man, Mr. H. A. Williford, and other members of the wedding party, in the presence of the graceful assemblage, the words being spoken that made them man and wife.

The maid of honor was Miss Nan Walker, of Rocky Mount, while little Misses Mary Olivia Wallace and Anne Marie Lichty served most gracefully as flower girls.

The bride wore a lovely creation of ivory white chiffon cloth with bridal veil and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was gowned in pink Messaleine cloth, and carried a lovely bouquet of carnations. The little flower girls were daintly costumed in white batiste, trimmed with lace.

After the ceremony the bride and groom received the happiest felicitations of a large number of friends, who witnessed the ceremony and immediately after this brief reception they repaired to the Front street station of the Atlantic Coast Line,whence they took their departure amid a shower of rice and good wishes for an extended bridal tour North. They will make their home at Rocky Mount, N. C.

The bride is much loved and admired in a wide circle of friends in Wilmington, where she formerly resided, and where she has often been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wallace. The groom is a prominent business man of his home town, and is held in the highest esteem by all who know him. He is prominent in the social life of Rocky Mount, and is assistant cashier of the Planters' National Bank of that town.

Among those from out of town, who were here to attend the ceremony were Capt. F. M. Fitts, of Rocky Mount, the father of the bride; Mrs. Edgar W. Smith, of Rocky Mount; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Avent, of Rocky Mount; Mrs. J. B. Lichty, of Des Moines, Iowa; Mr. O. D. Fitts, of Clio, S. C.; Miss Louise Lane, of New Bern; and Dr. W. H. Whitehead, of Rocky Mount.

Members of the wedding party were most charmingly entertained Monday night by Miss Florrie Grant, and last evening by Miss Ella Jacobs.

NOTES OF THE Y. M. C. A.

Ladies Planning a Social Affair—Meetings for Men.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. held a very enthusiastic meeting Tuesday morning and rounded up the affairs of its work in recently entertaining the delegates here for the Interstate convention. It was decided to give another social affair, the date for which will be the third of May. There will be an elaborate musical programme and other features of a decidedly entertaining and pleasing nature.

The Sunday afternoon meeting for men will be held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The idea of holding these meetings around at the several churches has proved quite successful, eighty men having attended the first at Bladen Street Church two weeks ago and 156 at Brooklyn Baptist Church last Sabbath. These meetings will culminate in the meetings to be held in the First Baptist Church beginning April 21st, at which Mr. Bradford O. Williams, of New York, will be heard. Mr. Williams is a great worker and a powerful speaker. The meetings will be largely attended.

Two Fire Alarms Yesterday.

Two alarms of fire were responded to by the Department yesterday, but in neither instance was the damage of consequence. At 11:30 A. M. Box 55 was rung in on account of a slight blaze at the home of Selina Thomas, colored, No. 914 South Ninth street. The alarm from Box 42 at 2:05 o'clock yesterday afternoon was on account of a blaze in a bale of cotton at the Wilmington Cotton Mills. The fire in the latter instance was extinguished without the aid of the Department by the operatives at the factory.

ALL HANDS SUBSTANTIATE PARKER.

The Chattanooga Times remarks sententiously:

"An optimistic Republican queries: 'Will even the Democrats, who profess to believe that Parker was defeated by the aid of corporation money, take Harriman's word, as against the President's?' We hadn't noticed that there was any issue between the President and Mr. Harriman that in any way involves the accuracy of Judge Parker's declaration. Mr. Roosevelt has not denied the efficacy of the Harriman corruption fund."

Quite correct Roosevelt does not deny the raising of a campaign (corruption) fund, but actually confesses it was raised. The thing over which the lie was passed was Harriman's declaration that the President sent for him and asked him to raise the fund to carry New York. The President denies that he asked Harriman to do any such thing but he doesn't deny that the fund was actually raised and spent as Parker charges. Parker's point was that the corporations did raise the funds for carrying the State, and his contention is corroborated by the insurance investigation, by E. H. Harriman's statement that he helped to raise the fund, and by the acknowledgment of the President that the fund was raised and that "nobody denies it." President Roosevelt may have requested Harriman to help to raise the fund, as Harriman alleges, or Harriman may be a liar as Roosevelt asserts, but the truth of what Judge Parker charges is not involved one way or other, and comes out all the clearer every time the Republicans make rough house and go to passing the lie among each other.

Why, only the other day, when Roosevelt made his explanation of his controversy with Harriman, he lugged in and hedged on the Parker charge, for fear it would substantiate Harriman. He hedged to the extent that he explained that the portion of Parker's charge that he pronounced untrue was that the campaign fund was raised for corruption purposes—not that it was raised. Boiled down, the President acknowledges that the fund was raised, but denies that it was for corruption purposes. The people, however, can judge for themselves whether an immense fund raised by Harriman, the insurance companies and the other corporations was spent for fun and not for purpose and results. They are not in business for their health.

We can't reconcile the President's idea of the innocent use of a huge campaign fund with the real purpose for which such funds are raised—to carry elections by some hook or crook. When a party, either Republican or Democratic, is caught with a big campaign fund we are bound to have our suspicions. We may believe Harriman is a liar all right, or we may not, but the President's suggestion that the corporation campaign fund wasn't tainted and polluted makes us laugh with an incredulous laugh. We don't deny that the President thinks he believes it, but we've got a poor idea of his capacity for harboring suspicions. All hands substantiate Parker.

SUPERSTITION OF WOMEN.

The Greensboro Daily Record says in its editorial columns:

"Of course the palmist will not be apprehended, but should he be caught and brought back here we wonder how many women who lost diamond rings and cold cash would face him in the court house. But, according to a good many of these women it would amount to nothing should they appear against him, for they say he can look at you and make you say or do anything he pleases—in other words that he is an expert hypnotist."

The "palmist" alluded to by the Record is a slick rascal, who recently stopped over in Greensboro and did a thriving business "reading the future" of such people as believe in such things. Judging from all accounts, most of his patrons were women, and it is pitiful to relate how they were duped by the slick duck. For a small sum he would "tell their fortune" and then persuade them that their "fortune" would be more effective if they were to put some valuable in a little black bag and wear it around their neck or next to them, without looking at it for a certain length of time. He had the little black bags a plenty; would take their watch, ring or other jewelry, and while pretending to put them in the bag and hand it back to them to be worn as a charm, the rascal would by sleight-of-hand, steal the valuables. Of course the victim would know nothing of the robbery until the time was up to take the valuable from the bag, when, lo and behold! there would be no watch, no ring, no jewel there. In this way, it is stated, the "palmist" got several thousand dollars from Greensboro women, and now the sheriff is looking for the fortune teller.

The thing that makes this story pitiful is that it is true, and that so many women and not a few men believe they can get some benefit out of palmistry. They would probably resent the idea that it is superstition that just such rascals bank upon to ply their games and tricks.

It is about time for girls to be taught that Friday is not a bad luck day, any more than the rest, and that about the only people who see ghosts are those who have hallucinations that call for the attention of a doctor.

PARTY BLACK SHEEP.

A Democratic jury in Kentucky has awarded a Republican damages in the amount of $10,000 because the Republican executive committee ruled him out of the party. We can't understand that, for a Democrat, generally speaking, would consider that the fellow would be a gainer instead of being damaged by being put out of the Republican party in the South. However, the Kentuckian may look at it that his reputation would be hurt by the fact that as bad as Republicans are, they would leave the impression on the community that he was a little too tough for them. The Washington Post thus speaks of this peculiar case and others:

"A curious lawsuit has been concluded in Bourbon county, Ky., and the plaintiff has been awarded $10,000 in damages because the Republican county committee read him out of the party. He sued for $25,000, and thus paid his party a high compliment. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says: 'It is very significant that a jury, undobtedly composed mainly of Democrats, in a county called Bourbon, should estimate that a man read out of the Republican party is entitled to as heavy damages as this jury awarded.' Strictly speaking, there can be no such thing as reading a man out of the party. Any voting citizen is always free to cast his ballot for the candidates of any party. It is his right, also, to believe in the policies of either of the various parties and to search for any party's alleged principles. There are, however, party organs that undertake to determine whether or not conspicuous members of their party are orthodox in faith. Now and then a bumptious committeeman essays this role. It will, perhaps, be recalled that a standpat daily in New York "read out" President McKinley and Secretary Root, appending to each of them the tag 'Free Trader,' because they strove to secure fair treatment for the Porto Ricans. For a long time after the demand for tariff revision began to be heard on the Republican side of the fence every prominent Republican was thus tagged, and the ridiculous practice still obtains to a limited extent. For example, Gov. Guild, of Massachusetts, is pictured as a black sheep wearing the "free-trader" brand. No Republican can be a free trader, and very many Democrats are protectionists."

CURRENT COMMENT

—The Boston Transcript is trying to show that the cost of living is lower now than it was in 1873. But a good many of us were not worrying about the cost of living then.—Washington Post.

—Representatice Northern newspapers are calling on the South to take the lead and give the North a chance to vote for a real Democrat—not a Popocrat, nor yet a Pobiedonostseff; no mere windbag and no mere moneybag, and no freak. Senator Daniel fills the bill. If the North will support any Southerner, it will support him, and so will the West. Of the South there is no question, including Missouri, Kentucky and Maryland, which Democratic folly has made debatable. Why not Daniel?—Norfolk Landmark.

—In the production of the world's cotton supply and in the spinning and weaving of a large share of it, both for home and foreign consumption, the Southern States of the Union have a resource of wealth that not only surpasses the whole gold production of our globe, but is greater even than when that gold is multiplied by four. All this has come about in a few years past, and is only a beginning of a vast development that has no equal anywhere. It is marvelous, not only in what is already attained, but also in what is promised.—New Orleans Picayune.

—It is given out at Washington that the government will soon recover possession of millions of dollars worth of coal and mineral lands fraudulently obtained by the Union Pacific Railroad and other railroad and coal companies in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and other mountain States. The recovery of these lands is sure to open up competition with some of the pestiferous fuel trusts that have been organized in the intermountain region, establishing a most dangerous form of monopoly. It is reported that the Harriman roads stand ready to give up a very large proportion of their coal land holdings rather than have their title investigated by the courts—Philadelphia Record.

—Raleigh News and Observer, April 9: There was in Raleigh yesterday a former Union officer who knew Raleigh in the last days of the Civil war, and who visited it after an absence of forty-two years. This is Mr. J. H. Roberts who in 1865 was first lieutenant in the Springville, Me., company of the Ninth Maine. He was acting quartermaster when the Federal troops were in Raleigh, coming into the city immediately after the surrender on the ninth of April. He recalled while here that Major Dyer was provost marshal at that time, and that his headquarters were in the Governor's office. Mr. Roberts was at the home of Mr. R. W. Andrews in 1865 and while here visited points in the city with which he was familiar. He was delighted with the progress of Raleigh since 1865, and expressed himself in the most pleasant terms concerning the city and the pleasure he had in visiting it in this day of happier circumstances.

BOOKER STILL IS BIG INJUN

Negro Educator as Potent as Ever at White House—Dictates Appointment of Federal Judges in Alabama—Wishes Obeyed.

(Raleigh News and Observer.)

Washington, D. C., April 9.—Booker Washington has given another demonstration of the potency of his influence at the White House. There was no dinner affair connected with this latest performance. The President simply elected to take the preference of the negro educator to that of Senators Pettus and Morgan, the entire delegation in Congress and most of the Republicans in Alabama. In the nomination of a candidate for the newly created Federal judgeship, Oscar R. Hundley, who is endorsed by Booker, and who is opposed by nearly all of the best sentiment in Alabama, will, according to information obtained at the White House today, receive the appointment. Hundley was nominated for United States District Attorney in that State during the last session of Congress, and the Senate has so far refused to confirm the appointment. There is every probability that the venerable Alabama Senators will fight even more strenuously to prevent Hundley's elevation to the bench.

Senator Pettus has informed the President that Hundley is not fitted for the judiciary, and before leaving Washington he called at the White House to enter his protest against the appointment. The President refused to turn down his friend, Booker, who has dictated Federal patronage in Alabama whenever he felt so disposed. It will be recalled that he dictated the nomination of Judge Thomas Jones, making the second United States Federal judge Dr. Washington has given the people of Alabama during the present administration.

This correspondent saw the letter Booker wrote the President, endorsing Judge Jones' candidacy. It said in substance:

"I send you by my private secretary, Emmet J. Scott, this letter in support of Judge Jones. I will be in Washington in a few days to talk over with you this and other appointments in Southern States."

Booker's idea then, which was some four years ago, was to dictate the distribution of the larger Federal offices in all the Southern States. The publication of the Scott letter to the President provoked such a wave of criticism in the South that the black educator gave up his political ambitions and kept away from the White for the longest kind of a time. However, he seems to be doing business again at the same old stand.

NORTH CAROLINA AT JAMESTOWN

Commissioner General Pogue Returns from Visit to Exposition Grounds. Reports That Things are Being Pushed Forward Rapidly.

(Raleigh News and Observer, Apr. 10.)

That North Carolina at the Jamestown Exposition is rapidly getting into fine shape is the encouraging news brought back from Virginia by Commissioner General Joseph E. Pogue, who yesterday returned from a visit to Norfolk and the Exposition grounds.

He reports that work is going forward rapidly on the North Carolina Building, which he expects to be completed in contract time. The more that he sees of the plan of the building put into reality the better pleased is he with it, and he declares with emphasis that it will be one of the prettiest, if not the very prettiest, of all Sate buildings there. He is paricularly pleased with its water front situation, and says that it will have more veranda space from which to view the manoeuvers of the war vessels in Hampton Roads than any other building.

In the State's exhibit building work is well under way. The covering is on, the railings are up, the facades and space decorations generally are being put in shape, and by the close of this week will be completed. The North Carolina display in the way of exhibiting the State's resources, will be a most gratifying one, for there will be shown what we have to offer in the way of agriculture, manufactures, forestry, fishing, mining and metallurgy. There will be a historical and educational exhibit, while the exhibit of textile industry will be one that will make folks sit up and take notice, showing as it will the class and scope and output of the fabric mills of the State. The exhibit of the products of our forests in the way of finishing furniture is also to be a great one, while that in the mining and metallurgy lines will show that the State s most rich in minerals, ores, granites, marbles, clays, and so on. Col. Pogue is certain that when North Carolinians are at Jamestown that they can "point with pride" to the great showing that the State will make.

"Pneumonia's Deadly Work

had so seriously affected my right lung," writes Mrs. Fannie Connor, of Rural Route 1, Georgetown, Tenn., "that I coughed continuously night and day and the neighbors' prediction—consumption—seemed inevitable, until my husband brought home a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, which in my case proved to be the only REAL cough cure and restorer of weak, sore lungs." When all other remedies utterly fail, you may still win in the battle against lung and throat troubles with New Discovery, the REAL cure. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy, druggist. 50c. and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

THE HOSPITAL MANAGERS.

To Purchase New X-Ray Machine. Members Reelected for Term.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Managers of the James Walker Memorial Hospital was held Tuesday night. The six-year terms of three of the managers having expired with that meeting they were unanimously re-elected as follows: Capt. Walter G. MacRae, president of the Board; Dr. W. J. H. Bellamy and Mr. D. C. Love. They are among the most enthusiastic and useful members of the directorate of the hospital and their choice for another term will be received with satisfaction by the public.

It was decided by the Managers to purchase for the hospital an X-Ray machine of the latest type to be used in the hospital practice. The purchase of this machine will be a great addition to the equipment of the institution, and it is made possible by the Ministering Circle of the King's Daughters, who have contributed largely to the cost of the apparatus which will be about $500. Dr. Slocum, surgeon in charge of the hospital, will go to Philadelphia in a few days to purchase the machine. It will be a coil XRay, as distinguished from the static machines, now in general use in the South.

The report of the superintendent for the month showed that 512 days of treatment were afforded to pay patients and 642 to charity patients. Fifteen of the pay patients during the month were from out of the city. There were 32 major operations during March, and the hospital answered 36 emergency calls. This is an excellent showing for the hospital and one upon which the management is to be congratulated.

Justice Bornemann's Court.

Moseley has sworn out a warrant charging Henry Davis with fraudulently removing a cornerstone which marks the boundaries of his land on Acorn Branch. The case will come up Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. It will be remembered that Moseley was examined by the Clerk of Court a week or two ago with a view of sending him to the colored insane asylum.

The Theatre

With the engagement of James O'Neill in "Monte Cristo" at the Academy tonight the public will be afforded the last opportunity of seeing this greatest of all romantic actors in the play that he has made famous, for Mr. O'Neill announces that he will bid farewell to "Monte Cristo" after this season, and will never again be seen in the part of Edmund Dantes. A new and costly production has been made, and a strong supporting company engaged to make this farewell tour a memorable one. Seats are now on sale.

"The Clansman"—This great play returns to the Academy Saturday for two performances—matinee and night. The company this season is said to be better than the one of last, and it is a fact that the stage mounting is by far more elaborate. The company that will appear here will be the same that will play Norfolk for an indefinite engagement during the Jamestown Exposition.

Seats for night will go on sale at 7 o'clock this morning and the seat sale for the matinee will commence at 10 o'clock today.

The return of Peruchi—The New Peruchi-Gypzene Company will return to the Academy Monday night, and will fill a week's engagement, excepting Wednesday night, when the Lyman Twins will hold the boards. The company will present a new repertoire and as the organization is a favorite in Wilmington, will, no doubt, be greeted by a large audience each night during its stay at the local playhouse.

Popular prices will prevail and seats for Monday night will go on sale Saturday morning.

Spanish Peanut Market.

A Petersburg, Va., correspondent writes as follows: "The Spanish peanut trade of Petersburg this season represents the value of about $1,000,000. The crop in this section has been nearly all marketed, and the stock is in the hands of dealers and handlers. Owing to the heavy and continued rains of last year the crop was greatly lessened in yield—probably 40 or 50 per cent., but this shortage was in large measure made up for by the increase in prices. These prices ran up from 90 cents per bushel early in th season to $1.35 at which the market now stands."

Funeral Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Lillie Heath, wife of Mr. T. H. Heath, was conducted yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from the family residence, No. 816 North Fifth street, and the interment was in Bellevue Cemetery. The services were by Rev. A. J. Parker, pastor of Bladen Street M. E. Church, and many friends were present to pay a last sad mark of respect to the memory of the good woman. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. D. Mote, Louis Tyndall, C. M. Priest, Bert Kelley and J. Bruce Taylor.

MURDERED THREE PEOPLE.

New York Suspect Captured at Los Angeles, Cal.

New York, April 10.—News of the arrest in Los Angeles, Cal., last night, of Charles Henry Rogers, alias Charles H. Carpenter, charged with the murder of Willis Olney, Frederick Olney and Alice Ingerick, at Middletown, N. Y., on October 6, 1905, was received here today. Rogers admits his identity.

Rogers also is charged with assaulting with intent to kill Mrs. Georgia Ingerick. Rogers had worked as a motorman on the Middletown Street Railway.

On the morning of October 6 Frederick and Willis Olney, prosperous farmers, were shot to death in the woods back of their farm house, about four miles from Middletown. Mrs. Georgia Ingerick, their housekeeper, was found in the barn unconscious from a fractured skull, and the body of her daughter, Alice, aged 9 years, was found in the cellar of the Olney home. Her skull had been farctured. Mrs. Ingerick's memory was so affected by the blow she received that she was unable for a long time to give any account of the attack upon her.

A private detective agency and the local authorities secured sufficient evidence to eindict Rogers but no trace of him was discovered until January last when he was located at Madero, Cal., but before a detective could get to that place he had departed.

On the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm III, which sailed from New York yesterday was a party consisting of Governor-elect Hoke Smith, of Georgia, William Williamson, president of the Savannah Chamber of Commerce, and G. Gunby Jordan, president of the Emigration Association of Georgia. They are going to study the immigration question with a view to the development of the resources of Georgia.

DRY.—In loving remembrance of my dear daughter, SADIE E. DRY, who died one year ago today, April 11, 1906.

'Tis the tear through many a long day
When the cold earth has just been thrown o'er her
That tells how beloved is the one that is dead,
Or how deep in my heart I deplore her:
'Tis the ear through many a long day wept;
'Tis life's whole pathway shaded;
'Tis the one remembrance fondly kept
When all lighter griefs have faded.

PROPER LABELS FOR WHISKEYS

Long Expected Opinion of Attorney General Given Out By President.

DRINKS MUST BE BRANDED

Straight Whiskey, Imitation Whiskies, Compounds, or Blends Must Be Plainly Shown on Bottles Offered for Sale to Public.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, April 10.—The long expected opinion of Attorney General Bonaparte concerning the proper labeling of whiskey under the pure food law, approved June 30, 1906, was made public at the White House today. Its purport is briefly told in the following letter addressed by the President today to the Secretary of Agriculture:

"My Dear Mr. Secretary—In accordance with your suggestion, I have submitted the matter concerning the proper labeling of whiskey under the pure food law to the Department of Justice. I enclose the Attorney General's opinion. I agree with his opinion and direct that action be taken in accordance with it.

"Straight whiskey will be labeled as such.

"A mixture of two or more straight whiskies will be labeled blended whiskey or whiskies.

"A mixture of straight whiskey and ethyl alcohol, provided that there is a sufficient amount of straight whiskey to make it genuine 'mixture,' will be labeled as compound or compounded with pure grain distillate.

"Imitation whiskey will be labeled as such.

"Sincerely yours,
"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

The Attorney General's opinion as to the proper construction to be placed on the law has been awaited with great interest by distillers and rectifiers all over the country. Before the question was sent to the Department of Justice it was very thoroughly investigated by the Department of Agriculture. The questions at issue arose in connection with the labeling or branding of the different kinds of spirit, claimed by their manufacturers or proprietors to be entitled to the name of "whiskey" with or without qualifying words. The mixture of a spirit properly designated as "whiskey" with another spirit which, standing alone, would not be properly designated as "whiskey," such as ethyl alcohol, must be labeled or branded as a "compound" or as "compounded."

The Attorney General declares that according to the tru intent of the pure food law a mixture of whiskey with a neutral spirit must be deemed a "compound" and not a "blend" although the spirit may be a distilate from the same substance used to furnish the whiskey and that such a mixture stands on the same footing as a mixture, of whiskey and brandy or of whiskey and rum. The definition of "whiskey" as a neutral spirit, he says, "involves as its corollary that there can be such a hing as imitation whiskey' if the same process were followed of which we spoke in connection with artificial wine, namely, if ethyl alcohol, either pure or mixed with distilled water, were given, by addition of harmless coloring and fiflavoring substances, the appearance and flavor of whiskey, it is impossible to find any other name for the product in conformity with the pure food law, than 'imitation whiskey.'"

The Attorney General says the most difficult question was "whether a mixture of a liquid such as had been described, or, indeed a mixture of ethyl alcohol itself with whiskey, ought to be labeled 'whiskey' at all. I conclude that a combination of whiskey with ethyl alcohol, supposing, of course, that there is enough whiskey in it to make it a real compound and not the mere semblance of one, may be fairly called 'whiskey' provided the name is accompanied by the word 'cimpound' or 'compounded' and provided a statement of the presence of another spirit is inclined in substance in the title.

"The following seems to be appropriate specimen brands or labels for, first, 'straight' whiskey; second, a mixture of two or more 'straight' whiskies; third, a mixture of 'straight' whiskey and ethyl alcohol, and fourth, ethyl alcohol flavored and colored so as to taste, smell and look like whiskey:

"First—Semper idem whiskey: A pure straight whiskey mellowed by age.

"Third—Modern improved whiskey: A compound of pure grain distillates, mellow and free from harmful impurities.

"Fourth—Something better than whiskey: A limitation under the pure food law, free from fusel oil and other impurities. In the third specimen it is assumed that both the whiskey and the alcohol are distilled from grain."

WANTS TAFT FOR PRESIDENT.

Roosevelt's Son-in-Law Says He Is Logical Candidatt.

Cincinnati, O., April 10.—Congressman Nicholas Longworth returned home from Washington today. In an interview he declared himself in favor of the nomination of Secretary Taft as the Republican candidate for President. He said that his opinion was personal and that he spoke only for himself, but that he believed that Taft in the eyes of the people typified the Roosevelt administration Continuing, Mr. Longworth said:

"The great question before the people in the next Presidential election will be, in my opinion, the approval or disapproval of Republican policies as registered by the last legislative and executive branches of this government for the past eight years under the administration of President Roosevelt. It seems to me that after the President himself there is no living man who so thoroughly typifies in the eyes of the people, the spirit of the Roosevelt administration as William H. Taft. There is no one who can better be trusted to carry out many of the great reforms which will be necessarily incomplete upon the retirement of President Roosevelt, March 4, 1909, as can William H. Taft. His record has been without a speck, his character without a flaw, his abilities as a jurist and as an administrative officer have been so distinguished as to have already placed him in the ranks of the very great men in the history of this country. I firmly believe that if the Republicans of Ohio stand by William H. Taft he can be nominated and elected."

CONFERENCE FOR EDUCATION.

Chief Interest at Pinehurst Was Women's Work.

Pinehurst, N. C., April 10.—The chief interest in today's session of the conference for education was centered in the afternoon meeting which was given over to the women. Mrs. Lindsey Patterson, of Winston-Salem, N. C., presided, and a plan for the promotion for thework carried on by the Woman's Associations for the Improvement of Public Schools in the Southern States was discussed. These organizations are interested in the building of better rural school houses and establishment of kindergartens and school gardens. Reports were submitted and plans discussed for the coming year. All the State delegations held meetings today.

At today's conference President Alderman, of the University of Virginia, presided. Chancellor Kirkland, of Vanderbilt University, in an address declared the Southern institutions have not in the past recognized the obligation of enforcing right educational standards and that States should aid by refusing charters to unworthy institutions. The conference tonight adopted resolutions commending the work of such organiations as the School Improvement League and urging that they be extended to embrace the whole citizenship of the several States in their membership and include "in the scope of their purposes all the factors of the educational problem."

BRYAN TO NOMINATE ROOSEVELT

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 10.—Editor John Temple Graves' suggestion that W. J. Bryan nominate Roosevelt, which the Georgia editor intended elucidating in a speech to Bryan banqueters this evening, were denied utterance.

John Tomlinson, of Birmingham, one of the speakers and toastmaster, met Graves on his arrival from Atlanta, at noon, and requested omission of this reference in his speech, arguing its impropriety in view of Bryan's presence at the banquet. Colonel Graves declined to alter his views or subject his speech to censorship. He attended the banquet as an invited guest, remaining but a short while, when he left the banquet hall for an Atlanta train. This afternoon Mr. Graves addressed a letter to the president of the Bryan Anniversary Club, defending his position.

At 11 o'clock tonight John Temple Graves was induced to return to the banquet hall and delivered his speech.

Mr. Bryan induced him to return and speak. Mr. Bryan replied, saying that he was not yet ready to place Mr. Roosevelt in nomination in a Democratic National convention.

GOV. GLENN AND ROOSEVELT.

Did Not Pronounce Him Greatest Ruler on Earth.

Raleigh, N. C., April 10.—Governor Glenn returned today from Pinehurst where he ahd delivered an address at the conference on education in the South, and concrning the statement published that he had said that he "considered President Roosevelt the greatest ruler the world has ever known," said:

"In the course of my remarks at Pinehurst I said that I regarded the President of the United States, whether Democrat or Republican, as the greatest ruler in the world, and I did not refer to Mr. Roosevelt or any President by name, as I was speaking not of an individual, but of the power and greatness of the position."

In this connection Governor Glenn recalled other addresses in which he said: "I have made this same reference to the President of the United States as being the greatest ruler in the world."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Lumberton, April 9: Rev. R. E. McCullar at the conclusion of the service at the Holiness Tabernacle Sunday morning, offered his resignation as pastor. For some time Rev. Mr. McCullar has held a position as bookkeeper for Mr. W. J. Prevatt, and has preached to the Holiness congregation here.

—Winston-Salem, April 9: The Winston-Salem Retail Merchants' Association has decided to fight freight discrimination systematically. The president has appointed a committee to act upon suggestions made by Governor Glenn. The committee will prepare cases at once and fight them out in the courts. The State Association will augment if necessary, the $4,000 appropriation by the last Legislature for the prosecution of test cases.

—Asheville, April 9: The freeze of last night has practically put an end to the fruit crop in this country. Rain fell yesterday afternoon and last night. The thermometer dropped to a point considerably below freezing. Then snow fell. This morning the ground was covered with snow and fruit blooms and buds were frozen. Snow has fallen practically day and night. Tonight the thermometer is again at the freezing point. It is certain that the fruit has been killed.

—Richmond, Va., April 9: Jim Perry, colored, accused of the murder of his brother, Baldy Perry, in Louisburg, N. C., has been arrested in this city, and is being held for the North Carolina authorities. The man was arrested by means of his wife, who was trailed when she attempted to join him here. Both of the negroes denied their identity, claiming that their names are not Perry. The description of the woman is very exact, and it is not believed that any mistake has been made.

—Salisbury, April 9: The Southern Express Company has let a contract for the erection of a modern storage and office building at Salisbury at a cost of $17,000. The building will join the new passenger station of the Southern Railway which is now under course of construction at a cost of $100,000. The Central Carolina Construction Company, of Greensboro, has been awarded the contract for both buildings. The foundation for the passenger station is being placed this week.

—Tarboro, April 9: One day last week the public school near the farm of E. L. Daughtridge was burned down. A fire had been built in the morning in the stove and for hours Miss Emma Mallett, who presides over the school had been hearing lessons. Some one called attention to the quantity of smoke. There was taken a look to locate it. The surprise of teacher and pupils can be imagined, when the room was found blazing. Miss Mallett made the children leave the room in an orderly manner, taking with them what they could. In this way, their books, many of those in the library and some desks were saved before the roof fell.

—State Entimologist Franklin Sherman sends out the following from Raleigh: Your attention is called to the fact that there will be a meeting of fruit growers in the Sparger orchard (B. F. Sparger, owner), two and one-half miles north of Mt. Airy, on the Ward's Gap road, on Thursday, April 18, meeting to begin not later than 10 A. M. The subjects to be discussed refer principally to the growing and handling of the apple crop, the protection of the trees, etc. There will be several speakers from the vicinity, one from Patrick county, Virginia, and several from the North Carolina Department of Agriculture. We hope for a very large attendance of fruit growers from all the region around Mt. Airy, including especially the counties of Surry and Stokes, and adjoining portions of Virginia. It is intended to make the talks entirely practical, and to illustrate them by demonstrations or specimens in cases where this is possible.

—Hamlet, April 9: There is persistent rumor of late that the new management of the Seaboard will in a short while make Hamlet the centre of operations. All admit that this is the logical place for the general shops, which are now located at Portsmouth, Va., and that point being at one end of the system makes it very inconvenient about getting repair work done as it is so far to transport cars, engines, etc., from other points on the system. The dispatcher's office was moved here from Raleigh a short time ago, and yesterday Superintendent Shed, and the second division, movel his office froce here. It is understood that these moves have proven very beneficial in the way of expediting the movement of trains. Quite a number of people are presumptuous enough to predict that within five years Hamlet will be a city of 10,000 people. Real estate is advancing rapidly and the citizens of the place are sanguine as to the future of the town. New dwellings, new storerooms and new enterprises seem to be the order of the day. There is seldom a day that there are not a number of real estate deals.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, April 10.—The cotton market was quiet during today's session with fluctuations narrow and irregular. The close was quiet but steady at a net decline of 3 points to an advance of 3 points, the new crop being relatively steady. Sales were estimated at 100,000 bales. The opening was steady at a decline of one point to an advance of one point which was about as due on the cables. The weather map was a little better than looked for. Temperatures were still unseasonably low but frost was reported at only a couple of points, averaging a little warmer than the previous day and there were rumors that Western jobbers were cutting the price of goods. Advices from Fall River and Eastern centres generally indicated continued firmness in cotton products, however, and after some little early irregularity, the market gradually worked up to a net gain of about 2 to 4 points. This was followed by a setback which seemed the result of selling by houses with Southwestern connections, but the list was steadied slightly under the closing figures of the previous day, by a renewal of covering and later fluctuations were irregular with the new crop showing steadiness on buying for a turn and undoing of straddles. Port receipts were well under those of last year, but exports were light. Southern spot markets were generally unchanged.

Receipts at the ports today, 12,772 bales against 13,689 last week and 23,887 last year. For the week 90,000 bales against 110,127 last week and 115,676 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 5,355 bales against 9,931 last year, and at Houston 6,162 bales against 3,286 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet; middling uplands, 11.00; middling gulf, 11.25; sales, 600 bales. Futures closed quiet and steady.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

By Wire to The Morning Star.

New York, April 10.—The dry goods market was firmer for the day. Unfavorable weather interfered with the jobbing and retail trade, but the primary markets were more active on printed goods, domestics, lace curtains, silk piece goods and ribbons, and some lines of linens. Prices in some lines show an advancing tendency again.

LIFE OR DEATH FOR HARRY THAW

DOOM HANGS OVER HARRY

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, April 10.—Charged with the responsibility of deciding the fate of H. K. Thaw the jury which since January 23 has been sitting in judgment on the young slayer of Stanford White, retired at 5:17 P. M. today to begin the consideration of their verdict. Six hours later they had failed to reach an agreement and shortly after 11 P. M. were locked up for the night in the jury room of the Criminal Court's building. Justice Fitzgerald who had been waiting for some word from the jury room became convinced at that hour that the chances of receiving a verdict tonight were too remote to warrant his reamining up any later. Justice Fitzgerald had earlier in the evening gone to his club up town and had held an auto in readiness to make a quick trip to the Court House should he be needed. His instructions regarding the locking up of the jury were given by telephone.

It was said that when Justice Fitzgerald's message was received at the court the officers on duty there put the matter up to the jurors themselves, asking if there was any possibility of their arriving at a verdict within the next few hours.

The reply from the jury room was strongly in the negative. The jury was said to be almost hopelessly divided and none of those connected with the case tonight would venture the hope of anything better than a disagreement as the climax of the long drawn out trial.

Harry Thaw sat in the prisoner's pen adjoining the deserted court room during the long hours of the jury's deliberations. By his side was his wife and his counsel who remained with him until all hope of a verdict tonight was abandoned.

During the early evening all of the Thaw family were with the prisoner, but before 10 o'clock they made their way up town to their hotel.

Thaw at 10:30 P. M. was in the prisoner's pen on the second floor of the Court House with his wife, Mrs. George L. Carnegie, his sister; Mr. Carnegie, Josiah Thaw and members of his counsel.

Thaw was said at this time to have entirely recovered from the depression of the afternoon and was the most cheerful and hopeful member of his party. The long delay in reaching a verdict seemed to him to preclude the possibility of his attorneys and commented at times upon the district attorney's address and Justice Fitzgerald's charge. The latter Thaw believed was not wholly impartial and he said he feared it might have a bad effect upon the jury.

Thaw's family were fearful lest under Justice Fitzgerald's charge the jury might bring a verdict for one of the lesser degrees of murder or manslaughter as outlined by the court.

Harry Thaw was amused when he read in a late edition of one of the afternoon newspapers that upon leaving the court room he had fallen fainting upon the floor.

"The boy has wonderful nerve," said Mr. Peabody, of his counsel, "and it is standing him in good stead tonight."

Tombs Chaplain Wade visited Thaw in the prisoner's pen shortly before 11 o'clock tonight. He and Thaw have become firm friends since the latter was incarcerated.

One of the prison guards with Thaw tonight received word from his home that his little girl who has been ill for several days was dying. Thaw turned to him and expressed the greatest sympathy.

"You are in a worse predicament than I am," he said to the guard. "I am very sorry."

A few minutes after 11 o'clock Justice Fitzgerald called up Capt. Lynch, of the court police squad, on the telephone, and asked if there was any likelihood of a verdict being reached tonight. Receiving a negative reply he ordered that the jury b locked up in the jury room until tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. It is believed, however, that should the jury reach a verdict tonight Justice Fitzgerald will consent to come down down tomorrow morning at an earlier hour than that set tonight.

In the life of Harry Thaw this day will go down as the most trying he has ever experienced. From the opening of court until the jury retired, the Fates dealt unmercifully with him. Beginning with District Attorney Jerome's final argument, and throughout the judge's charge, Thaw had to listen to a scathing attack upon his character and to a narrative drawn from the evidence which was meant to strip his deeds of the halo of chivalric glory which his own attorneys had thrown about them.

The judge's charge, lasting about an hour, was a concise outline of the law, and gave to the jury the alternative of rendering any one of the following four verdicts—murder in the first degree; murder in the second degree; manslaughter in first degree, or not guilty on the ground of insanity.

The statute governing the plea of insanity was defined clearly, much stress being laid on the fact that irresistible impulse to kill had no place in the law.

Altogether the charge, while consisting principally of a complete explanation of the law, was considered by those who have followed the trial, as adverse to the defendant. The attorneys for the defendant took exceptions because the judge had failed to include any of their prayers. Thaw was much depressed by the judge's words, and could not suppress his feelings. He left the court room dejected.

The District Attorney's summing up was a comprehensive and forceful review of all the evidence adduced. He declared at the outset that romance and sentiment did not enter into the issue; it was not a question of Stanford White's character or Evelyn Thaw's sufferings, it was a plain matter of fact homicide. "A common, cowly tenderlon murder," as he termed it. The novel plea of dementia Americana made by Attorney Delmas at the very close of his argument was attacked by the District Attorney, and he referred to it in tones of sarcasm. Jerome dealt mercilessly on every point and on Thaw, whom he termed alternately "St. George" and "Sir Galahad."

The atmosphere about Thaw and the members of his family was heavy with gloom during the judge's charge. The defendant said in a dejected mood, his head bowed, his face pallied and his entire appearance denoting a nervous, apprehensive state of mind. It seemed as though every vestige of hope had been taken away from him. All the confidence and cheerfulness which were so strongly in evidence yesterday had disappeared. Fear and doubt had supplanted them.

A complete change had come over him by the time the judge had concluded his charge. He began to realize that real danger menaced him, that his acquittal was by no means a certainty, and as he was led out of the court room the debonair style which marked his entrance yesterday morning had entirely disappeared. The members of Thaw's family were equally as low in spirits. They recognized the fact that the judge's charge was by no means favorable to Harry; they could not even construe it that way. None of Thaw's counsel would discuss it, but they shared in the general opinion that it was unfavorable to the client.

Shortly after visiting Harry in the penitentiary, Mrs. Evelyn Thaw left the building with Dan O'Reilly, after telephoning for a moment. Thaw's counsel denied a report that the best they hoped for was a hung jury.

After the case had been given to the jury Mr. Jerome's attention was called to the nervous state of the defendant. Discussing the situation with a number of friends, the District Attorney said, referring to Thaw:

"The poor fellow thought the judge would simply tell the jury to let this St. George, this Sir Galahad business go and that there would be the end to it. Now, I understand he is sitting in his cell, all in a mess, his head bowed, worrying about the outcome. I'm really sorry for him, but more so for his mother."

The Thaws remained in the court house for a short time after the jury had retired, and then the family, with the exception of the younger Mrs. Thaw, returned to their hotel for dinner. The young wife remained and had dinner with Attorney O'Reilly at a nearby restaurant. The others returned shortly after 8 o'clock, and went to the Tombs waiting room. The jury at 7 o'clock went to the Broadway Central Hotel for dinner, and returned to the court house at 8:52 p. m. They immediately went to the consultation room, where they continued the discussion of the verdict.

When it became apparent that there was no possibility of a decision being reached by 9 P. M., Justice Fitzgerald went home and left word that he would return whenever the jury desired him. The court room was emptied, and the doors were locked.

As time wore on, the crowd awaiting the verdict grew smaller and smaller. At last the court house corridors were all but deserted, only the newspaper writers remaining. Mrs. William Thaw grew weary of the long vigil and went back to her apartments in an uptown hotel. Evelyn remained at the court house, ready to be by her husband's side when a verdict was rendered.

By 10 o'clock the streets about the court house, which during the afternoon had been crowded, were entirely deserted. It seemed to be the general impression everywhere that there was no possibility of a verdict being reached before tomorrow morning, if then.

Under the statutes of New York, murder in the first degree is punishable with death, murder in the second degree by imprisonment for life, and manslaughter in the first degree by imprisonment not to exceed twenty years.

If the verdict should be one of acquittal on the ground of insanity the disposition of the prisoner would rest with Justice Fitzgerald. Thaw already having been declared sane by the report of a commission which Justice Fitzgerald has approved and confirmed, it would seem that the prisoner must be released.

OHIO NEGRO APPOINTED.

Is This Slap at Foraker By President Roosevelt.

Washington, April 10.—The President has appointed Ralph W. Tyler, a negro, of Columbus, Ohio, to be auditor of the Treasury for the Navy Department. Tyler is the man, who it was announced, had been considered by the President for a Federal position in Ohio, particularly that of surveyor of customs at Cincinnati. He succeeds William W. Brown, who has been appointed to the position of special attorney in the Department of Justice. Although it is understood that he was not endorsed for this particular place, it is said that both Senators Foraker and Dick endorsed Tyler for various positions.

The question of giving Tyler a Federal office has been under consideration by the President practically all Winter. He is one of two colored men whom the President originally had in mind, upon one of whom he desired to bestow some Federal office in Ohio. The offices of surveyor of customs and collector of internal revenue at Toledo were among those considered. The situation in Ohio was thoroughly canvassed, but there was decided opposition to giving a colored man such a prominent position as those under consideration.

Tyler has been identified with newspaper work in Ohio, and once held a position on the Columbus Dispatch.

SENATOR FORAKER OWNS NO BOSS

DID SOME PLAIN TALKING

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Canton, O., April 10.—In the presence of 1,200 people Senator Foraker at the Auditorium tonight delivered an address in which he defended his action as a servant of the people of Ohio and declared he is willing to abide by their decision in the future. The occasion of this address was the annual banquet of the Canton Board of Trade. Senator Foraker was down on the programme to deliver an address on "Civic Pride" but his speech was largely directed to his work as Senator and a declaration that he means to always do his best in his own way. He was received with much enthusiasm as he stepped forward to speak.

Senator Foraker began by discussing published statements regarding the President's attitude toward the Senator's speeches at this time, replied to a publication mentioning him as one of an anti-Roosevelt combination; reviewed the investigation of the discharge of the negro soldiers on account of trouble at Brownsville, Texas; reiterated his views regarding recent railroad legislation; protested against the infringement by one branch of the government of the rights of another branch; declared that the representatives of the people in Congress are accountable only to the people and are not "properly subject to any other influence;" denied the right of any one except his constituents to call him to account, and sounded a note of warning against increased surveillance of business men who need "no moral regeneration."

He quoted a published report that "President Roosevelt has drawn a dead line for Senator Foraker" and that "if he attacks President Roosevelt, President Roosevelt will be heard from in no uncertain tones." Senator Foraker said:

"That the President of the United States should become personally engaged in a political contest to determine his successor is without precedent, unless it be the bad precedent set by Andrew Jackson as to Martin Van Buren.

"That he would enter upon such a struggle with a declaration that he is to set limitations upon the freedom of speech of those who may differ from him, and that they are to disregard those limitations at their peril, is without precedent, even in the case of Jackson, and is so inconsistent with the dignity of his high office and the proprieties always to be observed, that I feel it a duty toward the President himself to enter for him, on my own motion, a disclaimer of all responsibility for such a publication.

"The time has not yet come, and nobody knows better than the President himself, when 'dead lines' can be drawn on debate for anybody to observe; nor has the time come when any real man would respect them if they were drawn. So far as I am personally concerned, I shall always speak with malice toward none, but according to my convictions when and wherever I may have occasion to speak at all."

Mr. Foraker characterized as a sort of comparison piece of the published statement, that the President to his friends has named as members of the combination to do him up for his attitude toward Wall street, E. H. Harriman, J. B. Foraker and John D. Rockefeller.

"In view of this publication," said Mr. Foraker, "I trust I may without impropriety say that until it was given out at Washington a few days ago I never heard tell of any combination or trust or conspiracy to oppose the thing, much less did I ever hear of the so-called five-million-dollar conspiracy of which we have heard much during the last week. I never saw John D. Rockefeller but once in my life and that was twenty years ago or more while I was Governor of Ohio. With that single exception, I never saw him, never spoke to him and never communicated with him any way directly or indirectly. Except only for a brief conversation with Mr. Harriman in the presence of the company at a dinner, I never communicated with him directly or indirectly on any subject whatever.

"I call attention to all this with particularity, for, that at the outset, such wild, reckless, crazy stories may be put into the class of campaign literature where they probably belong. But these stories are but samples of many others, all of which taken together, seem to have for their object the dissemination of the idea that I am at war with the policies of President Roosevelt.

"No man ever occupied the White House who has been identified with so many legislative measures as President Roosevelt. He is a tireless worker. He is constantly doing, or causing to be done something of great importance. This is true not only as to domestic but foreign affairs. He has been President ever since September, 1901, almost six years. During that time I have supported all measures that have come before the Senate of the United States for consideration, with which he was in any way identified, except only three.

"I differed from him as to joint statehood for Mexico and Arizona. I was unable to agree with him as to conferring the ratemaking power upon the Interstate Commerce Commission as provided in the Hepburn law passed at the first session of the Fifty-ninth Congress, and I have taken a different view from him with regard to the discharge without honor, of the members of Companies B, C, and D, of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, on account of the shooting affray at Brownsville, Texas. This was an incident, not a policy. But it was an incident of such character that I felt it my duty as a representative of the people of Ohio to do with respect to it what I have done.

"While conceding the right of everybody else to differ from me, I deny the right of anybody except my constituents to call me to account. I have never held any office, except by election. I have always been proud of the confidence in me so frequently manifested by the intelligent people of this great commonwealth. I am always ready to abide by their judgment. I would not avoid nor evade it if I could. Therefore, it is my purpose to carry my cause directly to them whenever issues may arise in which I am interested. If they agree with me, I shall be rejoiced; if not I shall be satisfied. But while I will thus submit my cause to the people and abide by their judgment, I will not submit to the dictation or threats or menaces of any kind of any boss, big or little, inside the State or outside of it. Neither will I acquiesce without protest in what I do not approve, no matter by whom it may be proposed."

General Lawrence S. Baker, aged 77 years, who commanded a North Carolina brigade in the Confederate army, died yesterday at his home in Suffolk, Va., after an illness of two months, following a parallytic stroke.

Policy O. K. Company O. K. Applicant ?

THE STANDARD POLICY, issued in accordance with the new Insurance Law of the State of New York, covers every benefit and advantage which can properly be combined in a single contract of insurance.

THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF THE UNITED STATES, —PAUL MORTON, President— in consequence of its financial strength, and the conservatism and economy of its management, guarantees the prompt and complete fulfilment of every obligation under this policy.

But what about you, who need insurance? Are you sure you can insure? Are you sure you will be alive and well when, next week or next month, you think of insuring?

You don't leave your property unprotected against loss by fire for even a day. Why leave your family unprotected for even an hour?

For full particulars regarding the Society and the Standard Policy, apply to the undersigned.
